

IFB Bank: Christian Ethical & Stewardship Banking

Banking that honours biblical principles whilst delivering exceptional financial services. At IFB Bank, we believe that financial stewardship is an integral part of Christian discipleship, enabling individuals and organisations to manage resources for God's glory and community flourishing.

The Call for Ethical Banking in a Complex World

In today's increasingly complex financial landscape, there is a growing awareness of financial ethics rooted in Christian values. More believers are recognising that their banking choices should reflect their faith commitments.

Stewardship represents a biblical mandate—we are called to manage resources not as owners, but as trustees entrusted with God's provision. This perspective transforms how we approach banking, lending, and investment.

The challenge we face is substantial: how can we align modern banking practices with faith principles that emphasise justice, compassion, and responsible care for God's creation?

What is Christian Ethical & Stewardship Banking?

Biblical Integration

Banking that weaves biblical principles—honesty, justice, generosity, and care for creation—into every financial practice and decision.

Transparency & Responsibility

Commitment to clear communication about how funds are used, ensuring responsible lending practices that avoid exploitation.

Positive Impact

Using banking as a powerful tool for positive social and environmental change, directing resources toward Kingdom purposes.

Christian ethical banking reflects a holistic understanding that financial decisions have moral dimensions. We believe banking should contribute to community wellbeing rather than merely maximising profit.
