

Trading Volume Contract

This Trading Volume Contract (the "Contract") is entered into pursuant to, and forms an integral part of, the Trading Account General Conditions (the "General Conditions") between International Finance Bank Ltd (the "Bank") and the client identified below (the "Client"). Terms defined in the General Conditions bear the same meaning in this Contract.

1. Client and Account

Client name: _____

Account number: _____

2. Agreed Trading Volume

The Client commits to a Trading Volume, being the committed amount of financial instruments to be bought or sold through the account within one year, of:

Amount in figures: _____ Currency: _____

Amount in words: _____

This is the agreed "Trading Volume" within the meaning of the General Conditions. It applies for the term of this Contract and replaces any Trading Volume previously agreed for the account.

3. Fees

In accordance with clause 14.4 of the General Conditions, the trading fees amount to zero point two five percent (0,25%) of the agreed Trading Volume, due and payable annually upfront. The Bank may deduct 50% of the initial fees at any time it deems suitable based on the agreed Trading Volume. Should the actual Trading Volume exceed the agreed Trading Volume, the Bank will adjust the ulterior fees on a quarterly basis in accordance with the General Conditions.

4. Term and Adjustment

This Contract takes effect on the date of signature and runs for twelve (12) months. Any increase or renewal of the Trading Volume requires a new Trading Volume Contract. Absent renewal, no Trading Volume is agreed for any subsequent period.

5. Relation to the General Conditions

As to the amount of the Trading Volume, this Contract prevails. In all other respects the General Conditions apply unchanged, including their provisions on governing law and jurisdiction.
